“ I knew you as a youngster, Michael. Uncle John would come by and visit your mom and dad and see you kids run around and play. That was oh so many years ago. Then, we get married and start our own families, drifting away from our beginnings. I was Santa with you kids, having a lot of fun, during a more innocent time. I wish I had known you as I know my own children.

In loving memory

“ My brother will be missed. I would like to update the date of death to Dec 28, 2020 at 11 pm when he actually passed away. It is possible the death certificate was signed the next morning.

“ My Dad used to take jobs at the schools we went to, so that he could see us more often.

We would get out of class, and he'd be there sweeping the floors, trying to memorize our schedules so that he could get in another hug.

*Money didn't matter to him, we mattered to him.*

He always made that extraordinarily clear.

“ My favorite memory of my Dad was when he took me and my brother down behind our apartment complex with a baked casserole, and gave it to the homeless people living there. He was always doing stuff like that, no matter what the person looked like, how they spoke, or what they were struggling with. Food, money, whatever he had on him, he would always give to those less fortunate than himself. I am so glad that he passed that on to us.
